2. What cookies are

Cookies are small text files that a website places on your device when you visit it. They allow the website to recognise your device and remember information, such as whether you are logged in.

Strictly necessary cookies do not require your consent under the Privacy and Electronic Communications Regulations 2003, which is why we do not show a cookie consent banner. We tell you about them here instead.

4. Third party services

Google Fonts. Our website loads some fonts from Google's servers. Google Fonts does not set cookies, but your browser sends your IP address to Google so the fonts can be delivered. Please see our Privacy Policy for more information.

Links to other websites. Our website links to other websites, such as LinkedIn. If you follow those links, those websites may set their own cookies, which are governed by their own cookie policies. We do not control those cookies.

5. Managing cookies

You can block or delete cookies through your browser settings. Most browsers explain how to do this in their help pages. If you block the cookies listed above, the website will still display normally, but you will not be able to log in.
